

Eligible Brands

The following brands may be selected by Market Members when trading via GlobalOre's Service.

Where used in a Transaction the following terms shall have the definitions set out below.

Individual Brands

- BRBF means iron ore fines of Brazil origin produced by Vale and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Brazilian Blend Fines' or 'BRBF'.
- FBF means iron ore fines of Australian origin produced by Fortescue Metals Group and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Fortescue Blend Fines'.
- FMGL means iron ore lump of Australian origin produced by Fortescue Metals Group and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'FMG Lump'.
- FPP means iron ore pellets of Ukrainian origin produced by Ferrexpo and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Ferrexpo Premium Pellets'.
- HIY means iron ore fines of Australian origin produced by Rio Tinto and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'HIY Fines'.
- IOCJ means iron ore fines of Brazil origin produced by Vale and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Carajas Fines' or 'IOCJ'.
- JF means iron ore fines of Australian origin produced by BHP and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Jingbao Fines'.
- JMBF means iron ore fines of Australian origin produced by BHP and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Jimblebar Fine Ore' or 'JMBF'.
- KF means iron ore fines of Australian origin produced by Fortescue Metals Group and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'King's Fines'.
- MACF means iron ore fines of Australian origin produced by BHP and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'MAC Fine Ore' or 'MACF' or 'MAC fines' or 'MACTM fines'.
- NBL means iron ore lump of Australian origin produced by BHP and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Newman Blend Lump Ore' or 'NBL' or 'Newman lump'.
- NBLU means iron ore lump of Australian origin produced by BHP and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Newman Blend Lump Ore Unscreened' or 'NBLU' or 'unscreened Newman lump'.
- NF means iron ore fines of Australian origin produced by BHP and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Newman High Grade Fine Ore' or 'NHGF' or 'Newman fines'.

- PBF means blended iron ore fines of Australian origin from Rio Tinto managed mines and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Pilbara Blend Fines' or 'PB Fines'.
- PBL means blended iron ore lump of Australian origin from Rio Tinto managed mines and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Pilbara Blend Lump' or 'PB Lump'.
- RHF means iron ore fines of Australian origin produced by Roy Hill and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Roy Hill Fines'.
- RHMBF means iron ore fines of Australian origin produced by Roy Hill and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Roy Hill Medium Blend Fines'.
- RHL means iron ore lump of Australian origin produced by Roy Hill and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Roy Hill Lump'.
- RVF means blended fine iron ore from mines which are operated by Rio Tinto on behalf of the Robe River joint venture from areas in or in the vicinity of the Robe Valley in the Pilbara Region, in the State of Western Australia, which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Robe Valley Fines'.
- SFLA means iron ore fines of Brazil origin produced by Vale and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Sinter Feed Low Alumina' or 'SFLA'.
- SP10F means blended iron ore fines of Australian origin from Rio Tinto managed mines and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'SP10 Fines'.
- SP10L means blended iron ore lump of Australian origin from Rio Tinto managed mines and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'SP10 Lump'.
- SSF means iron ore fines of Australian origin produced by Fortescue Metals Group and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Super Special Fines'.
- SSFG means iron ore fines of Brazil origin produced by Vale and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Standard Sinter Feed Gubaiba' or 'SSFG'.
- SSFT means iron ore fines of Brazil origin produced by Vale and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'Standard Sinter Feed Tubarao' or 'SSFT'.
- WPF means iron ore fines of Australian origin produced by Fortescue Metals Group and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'West Pilbara Fines'.
- YF means iron ore fines of Australian origin produced by BHP and which would generally be identified by participants throughout the seaborne iron ore market at the time when the Transaction is agreed as 'BHP Yandi Fines'.

*

*

*